

Christ and Culture

Five Approaches to “Confronting the World”

“Culture” = Man’s efforts to order the cosmos & define effective and correct ways to live in it.
 The “Cultural Mandate” - Gen 1:27-28 - Man was “to cultivate” the Garden.

Christ against Culture

(Antithesis)
PROTECTING

Christians must make a radical break from their culture.

These views see human culture as basically bad: sinful and evil - tends to despise God’s good Creation and confuse redemption with deliverance from worldliness and cultural practices.

Christ and Culture
in Paradox

(Duelism)
UNCHANGING

Christians live in the world, but oblivious to it - resting on tradition and faith while waiting for God’s “kingdom”.

Christ, Transformer of Culture

(Conversion)
INFLUENCING

Christians should endeavor to convert and redeem all man’s cultural life for the glory of God.

Man’s cultural pursuits are created good, but now infected by sin, so human culture needs redemption and restoration.

Christ
above
Culture

(Synthesis)
BATTLING

Christians live in both “realms” and tries to either bring them together, or assert Christ’s dominance over culture.

These views see human culture as basically (or partially) good - tends to deny the full effects of the fall, and recreate Christ into various cultural images.

Christ
of Culture

(Equates)
ASSIMILATING

Christians find in Christ the high ideals for their cultural life and values.

It is important to consider how each position views the doctrines of:
Creation, Fall, Redemption

(See H. Richard Niebuhr, Christ and Culture; Jimmy Long, Generating Hope, Chapter 1)